Senate GOP 'Can't Stop' Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Senate Republicans said Thursday they would be unable to block passage of Ohio's first income tax, while their colleagues in the House exchanged recriminations over the measure's escape from the lower chamber after a 12-week deadlock.

"I don't see any way we can stop the bill," said Sen. Donald "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middle-town. "Democrats are holding firm for it, and we just don't have the necessary votes."

Senate Minority Leader Anthony Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, said Senate leaders don't want the bill to get bogged down again as it did in the House, and action on the $1.4 billion in new taxes should come within four weeks.

Thirty-eight Democrats and 16 Republicans teamed up to pass the bill in the House, 54-42, Wednesday evening. The measure calls for a one to four to eight per cent tax on corporate income.

The bill's principle features are nearly the same as those originally proposed by Gov. John Gilligan, who had asked a graduate personal income tax on one to eight per cent. His corporation tax request was the same as that approved by the House.

Republican dissidents who managed for nearly three months to keep a tax measure bottled in the House Ways and Means Committee were accusing their leaders Thursday of selling out to Gilligan.

Several Republican legislators charged that James Duerk, an aide to GOP State Chairman John Andrews, had lobbied in favor of the compromise bill.

Duerk denied the charge. Later in the day Andrews issued a statement in which he said the tax bill would raise too much new money and ought to WATER will be turned off 9-11 a.m. Saturday in the city areas of Brinks Drive to Moats Drive and Nicholas Drive to Hargus Creek including Gale Court. Purpose of the shut-off is to install services to a new business on the Lancaster Pike.

PICKAWAY County Community Action Organization reports that additional slots have been obtained in the Neighborhood Youth Corps, but there are no applicants. Originally granted 43 spots, the quota has been increased to 63.

Guidelines for qualifying for one of the job openings is the youth must be a resident of Pickaway County and come from a low income family.

POLICEMEN were firing furnaces for their sidewalk sale fish fry bright and early today. By the looks of the line by 11 a.m. it was a good thing they got an early start.

THE only thing that brings more people to Circleville at one time is Pumpkin Show, one downtown merchant said of today's annual sidewalk sales promotion. The event has grown into the most successful promotion of the year, and is thoroughly enjoyed by all, customers and clerks alike, although the clerks will be mighty tired by nightfall. Frisbees and pictures of racing cars were a fast selling item at one sidewalk stand. On the other end of the street, an ideal gift for the wife, spades didn't move very fast.

Ohio Water Fluoridation Law Voided

Referendum Provision Brings Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ohio's water fluoridation law, passed in November of 1969, has been ruled unconstitutional because of a referendum provision in the statute.

Judge William R. Matthews of the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court issued the ruling Thursday in making permanent a temporary injunction which has halted fluoridation of water in Cincinnati earlier this year.

Waterworks systems supplying 20,000 or more persons were required to fluoridate the water by an 1, 1971, under the statute.

Matthews said although the law provided that citizens could vote in local referendums on the question of fluoridation, people who lived in areas where fluoridation had already been added to the water before enactment of the statute were not given an opportunity to vote on the issue.

Matthews said, "The question of the advisability of fluoridation of water is not a judicial but a legislative function and this court is only concerned with the constitutionality of the legislation."

In dismissing the question of proper jurisdiction of the court,

Charge 3 In Slaying

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A bus driver and two Cleveland women have been charged with first-degree murder in the torture slaying of an East Side youth and police said warrants had been issued for another woman and two more men.

Police were keeping under guard a 27-year-old informant who said the slaying of Parris R. Ray, 18, was part of a plot involving the theft of $1,100 from Ray and another man when they went to a narcotics pickup spot. Those charged Thursday were Cleveland Transit System bus driver Roland Sweet, 22, Mrs. William Bell, 34, and Mrs. Merel Jackson, 30.

Police said the informant told them battery acid and a drain cleaner had been injected into Ray's body and a quantity of LSD placed in his mouth. The informant said Ray finally died after a plastic bag was tied over his head.

Ray's body was found Monday in a weeded lot on Cleveland's East Side.

President Will Visit Red China Within Year

Asians Stunned By Peking Trip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
TOKYO (AP)—Nationalist China lodged a strong protest today against President Nixon's plan to visit Communist China and a South Korean spokesman termed the trip shocking news. But other Asian allies of the United States approved.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu was not immediately available for comment, but an aide said, "This is something he considers as an encouraging development."

The report reached the Far East in midmorning and took government officials and the public by surprise. Newspapers rushed out extra editions and anxious callers jammed newspaper switchboards for details.

Nationalist China's ambassador to the United States, James C. Shen, told newsmen in Washington he was not informed of Nixon's plans until about half an hour before the President's broadcast.

His report apparently did not reach Taipei before the news reports, and at the news top officials of President Chiang Kai-shek's regime went into a hurried 45-minute conference. Afterward a spokesman said the government had "lodged a strong protest to the government of the United States."

Nixon's announcement surprised officials and private citizens in staunchly anti-Communist South Korea. A spokesman for the Foreign Ministry said

"it was shocking news" but added the government would withhold official comment until it heard from its embassy in Washington.

Seoul citizens, many with bewildered looks, intently read the news on bulletin boards in front of newspaper buildings before the afternoon papers hit the streets.

In Tokyo, the Japanese government termed Nixon's announcement a "very good thing." Acting Foreign Minister Toshio Kimura told newsmen: "We welcome the visit as an improvement of relations between the United States and China." He said his government was informed in advance of Nixon's plans.

Prime Minister Sir Keith Holyoake of New Zealand called Nixon's announcement heartening and said, "I hope this development will give more depth to recent tendencies on the part of China toward more relaxed relations with other countries."

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand, whose country has troops in Vietnam, said Nixon's trip may help bring peace to Southeast Asia.

Sir Leslie Bury of Australia, whose country also has a contingent of troops in Vietnam, said he thinks most nations which don't have relations with Peking will wait to see the outcome of Nixon's visit before "making any other moves re-

Scattered Violence Marks Telephone Workers' Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Isolated instances of vandalism have marked the strike by 400,000 members of the Workers of America but most telephone service across the nation continued to function normally.

Meanwhile, negotiators for the Bell Telephone System and the CWA continued talks on wages, fringe benefits and a variety of local issues.

The worst vandalism in the strike which began Wednesday occurred in Elgin, Ill., where a firebomb Thursday did an estimated $50,000 to $75,000 damage to a company garage. Windows were broken in the Elgin central office and shots were fired at a nonstriker's home.

Two phone company employees were arrested and charged with arson in the burning of cables that cut telephone service to 8,000 subscribers in Mundelein, Aurora and Libertyville, Ill.

There was similar cable damage in Vineland, N.J., and Gretna, Neb. About 15 cables have been cut in the Los Angeles area, affecting about 1,500 customers. In the San Francisco area some 2,700 subscribers were affected by cable cuts.

In each case, emergency crews worked to repair the damage and most service was quickly restored.

A sulphur bomb thrown into a New Rochelle, N.Y., telephone company office ventilating system forced the evacuation of more than 100 onstrikers.

In Yonkers, N.Y., a phone company supervisor was beaten and slightly injured while performing emergency repairs. His companion, working atop a pole, escaped unscathed but their truck was vandalized.

A woman employee was assaulted as she attempted to leave a company parking lot at Nashville, Tenn., and a shot was fired into the car of another woman employee, a company spokesman said.

Eggs were thrown at company cars or vehicles driven by supervisory employees at Booklyn Center, a Minneapolis suburb.

Ohio Bell reported more incidents of what it termed "minor vandalism" Thursday. It said locks were jammed and an alarm system cut at an Akron installation garage, computer cards for trouble reports were disfigured at Youngstown and nails were scattered on pavement at a Cleveland service center where company vehicles sustained punctured tires.

Telephone company officials described Ohio Bell's answering response at switchboards during the strike Friday as "poor to fair" and said it was continuing to handle emergency repair and installation orders.

Some 650 telephone customers temporarily lost service in the Youngstown area Thursday when a contractor cut through a cable, Ohio Bell said.

Formal and informal talks between the union and company were held Thursday and were to continue today.

Conference Panel Eyes Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—An extra half-billion dollars for food stamps and continued high subsidy payments are the chief Senate modifications of a $13.6-billion farm appropriations bill headed for House-Senate conference.

The alterations will have to be molded with the House-passed bill, which followed an administration line on the food stamp payments, but undercut the White House by reducing subsidy ceilings from $55,000 to $20,000.

The Senate made its changes Thursday before passing, 78-2, the overall bill.

The money for food stamps was increased from $2 billion President Nixon requested to $2.5 billion. But the Nixon-backed subsidies remained the same. An amendment to drop them was defeated, 58 to 27.

Also defeated by a 71-10 vote was an amendment by Sen. Frank Moss' D-Utah, to halt government price supports and other subsidies for tobacco.

The bill provides financing for the Agriculture Department and various environmental and consumer protection agencies in the fiscal year that began July 1.

GOP Makes Hay With Tax Vote

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Did the Republican leadership solicit votes for Gov. John Gilligan's $1.4 billion tax package in an effort to make political hay in the 1974 gubernatorial campaign?

The leadership denies it, but a group of GOP dissidents claim it happened. They're yelling for the scalp of GOP State Chairman John Andrews and House Speaker Charles Kurfess.

Several Republicans believe Andrews and Kurfess did just that at the request of former Gov. James Rhodes.

"He (Rhodes) wanted to make sure that there were enough votes to pass what he could call a Gilligan tax bill," said one of the dissidents.

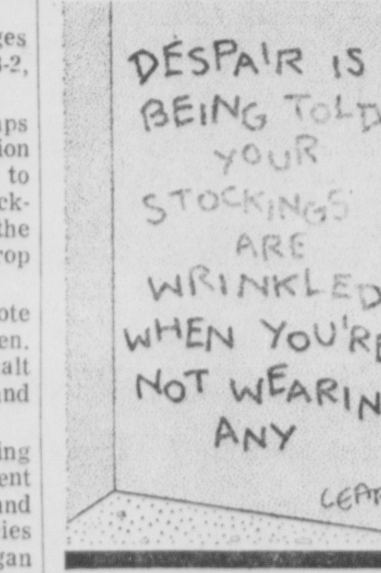

"That may be good for the next Republican gubernatorial candidate, but there may be quite a few of us who will be gone before that," he added.

Probably the happiest lawmakers around after the House passed the tax bill Wednesday night were six Democrats who voted against it.

Five of them gathered in a downtown restaurant for dinner later. They were all smiles.

"They have the best of both worlds," a Republican lobbyist commented. "Their governor got what he wanted without their help. They may be the only faces that look familiar around here in a couple of years."

Many congressional Democrats, including a number of Nixon's most likely 1972 election challengers, were quick to welcome the development.

Kissinger Paved Way In Peking

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—President Nixon has announced he will visit Peking within 10 months at the invitation of Communist China's premier, Chou En-lai. The President said he would seek a "normalization" of U.S.-mainland China relations.

The visit was arranged last weekend by Chou and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's adviser of national security affairs who made a secret stop in Peking during a 10-day trip around the world.

The President's unexpected announcement was made Thursday night on nationwide television and radio.

Speaking for five minutes from the National Broadcasting Co. studios in Burbank, Nixon said the purpose of his mission behind the bamboo curtain "is to seek a normalization of relations between the two countries and also to exchange views on questions of concern to the two sides."

The Nixon journey is expected to have an impact on the 1972 presidential campaign in the United States and may have an influence on the search for a negotiated peace in Vietnam.

Now it is more widely assumed than ever that the Nixon administration will not challenge the bid this fall for admission of mainland China, to the United Nations.

In fact, the chief executive's reference to "normalization of relations" seemed to suggest that his visit to Peking will be climaxed by establishment of full diplomatic relations between the United States and the Communist government which took over mainland China 22 years ago.

Said Nixon, "I will undertake what I deeply hope will become a journey for peace—peace not just for our generation, but for future generations on this earth we share together."

The President quoted from a joint announcement, made simultaneously in Peking.

"Knowing of President Nixon's expressed desire to visit the People's Republic of China, Premier Chou En-lai, on behalf of the government of the People's Republic of China, has extended an invitation to President Nixon to visit China at an appropriate date before May 1972. President Nixon has accepted the invitation with pleasure."

Many congressional Democrats, including a number of Nixon's most likely 1972 election challengers, were quick to welcome the development.

Storm Hits Miss Ohio Pageant

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Preliminaries of the Miss Ohio Pageant operated under difficulties at nearby Cedar Point Thursday night when an electrical storm blacked out the swimsuit and evening gown competition. Finals are Saturday night.

At one point flashlights had to be used for the program before the lights came back on.

Laurie Schaefer, 22, of Bexley, Columbus suburb, one of the favorites for the Miss Ohio title, won both the swimsuit and the evening gown competition. Miss Schaefer, who was graduated from Ohio University this spring, will compete in the talent competition tonight.

The Thursday night talent competition was won by 19-year-old Judy Jones, Miss Miami University. Miss Jones, who is from West Alexandria in Preble County, will compete in the swimsuit and evening gown categories tonight.

The names of the ten finalists who will compete for the title Saturday night will not be made known until Saturday evening, several hours before the selection of Miss Ohio.

Dock Strike Continues

Longshoremen In West Picket

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One hundred ships sit idle today in 34 ports from Canada to Mexico as the economic impact grows in 16th day of a strike by 15,000 West Coast longshoremen.

Ports have toted up millions of dollars in lost wages and diverted cargo.

Hundreds of workers in related dockside industries were reported laid off. Thousands of others were ordered to take early vacations.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the employer Pacific Maritime Association say no talks are scheduled.

In Southern California, John Parkinson, assistant general manager of the Harbor Department said, "We figure the economic impact on the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbors alone is $15 million a month."

"The effects of the strike are also being felt not only in the United States but in foreign ports," he added. "You can't tie up a big market like the Pacific Coast without some effect worldwide."

Cargoes including industrial materials, foodstuffs, autos and pulp products have been re-routed to Canada and Mexico for unloading and land shipment to U.S. destinations. Eastern U.S. and Gulf ports also have received strike-diverted cargo.

Only military cargo and passenger ships have been unloaded since July 1, when the first coastwide strike in 23 years began.

ILWU President Harry Bridges said Thursday that longshoremen will load 28,804 tons of wheat and flour for relief of Pakistani refugees in India, requested by the Nixon administration.

Union Pacific, Southern Railroads Struck

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cable-t, railroad and union officials bargained through the night but failed to head off a strike today against two major railroads.

The strike is on against the Union Pacific and Southern railroads, said Charles Luna, president of the AFL-CIO United Transportation Union. "We're still bargaining," he said. "We're going to get some rest."

Luna was joined in the extraordinary summit session which began at 7 p.m. Thursday by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe and five railroad presidents.

The strike over work rules would idle an estimated 48,000 employees on the two roads and affect Southern and Western states. However, effects of the strike—the nation's third major rail stoppage in seven months—would be felt in various degrees by other railroads as surely as the nation's rail system is joined together. Few commuters would be affected.

Also at the Labor Department bargaining table were the president of the Norfolk & Western and a representative for the Southern Pacific, the two roads set for a UTU strike next Friday, and the president of Chicago and North Western whose 6 a.m. strike deadline has been delayed by a federal court until July 23.

The UTU represents 190,000 brakemen and other operating crew members.

UTU members planned to report at the rest of the nation's railroads and work under much harsher rules promised by the industry as retaliation for the selective, or "whipsaw" walk-outs against the Southern and UP.

In addition to work rules, key issues are wages and working conditions.

Railroad spokesmen have argued the UTU should accept a contract package similar to the one signed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. That package included a 42-per-cent pay raise over 42 months and elimination of disputed work rules.

One of the key work rules at issue requires train crews to change after around 100 miles of travel.

To combat the whipsaw strike, the railroad industry promised to impose tougher work rules against employees of nonstriking lines, including raising that 100-mile limit, eliminating extra pay for certain tasks and requiring yard crews to service all sidings within four miles of their yard.

Conference Panel Eyes Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — An extra half-billion dollars for food stamps and continued high subsidy payments are the chief Senate modifications of a $13.6-billion farm appropriations bill headed for House-Senate conference.

The alterations will have to be molded with the House-passed bill, which followed an administration line on the food stamp payments, but undercut the White House by reducing subsidy ceilings from $55,000 to $20,000.

The Senate made its changes Thursday before passing, 78-2, the overall bill.

The money for food stamps was increased from $2 billion President Nixon requested to $2.5 billion. But the Nixon-backed subsidies remained the same. An amendment to drop them was defeated, 53 to 27.

Also defeated by a 71-10 vote was an amendment by Sen. Frank Moss' D-Utah, to halt government price supports and other subsidies for tobacco.

The bill provides financing for the Agriculture Department and various environmental and consumer protection agencies in the fiscal year that began July 1.

GOP Makes Hay With Tax Vote

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Did the Republican leadership solicit votes for Gov. John Gilligan's $1.4 billion tax package in an effort to make political hay in the 1974 gubernatorial campaign?

The leadership denies it, but a group of GOP dissidents claim it happened. They're yelling for the scalp of GOP State Chairman John Andrews and House Speaker Charles Kurfess.

Several Republicans believe Andrews and Kurfess did just that at the request of former Gov. James Rhodes.

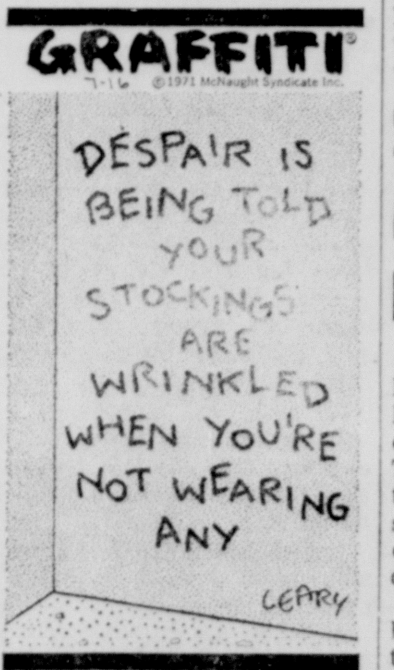

"He (Rhodes) wanted to make sure that there were enough votes to pass what he could call a Gilligan tax bill," said one of the dissidents.

"That may be good for the next Republican gubernatorial candidate, but there may be quite a few of us who will be gone before that," he added.

Probably the happiest lawmakers around after the House passed the tax bill Wednesday night were six Democrats who voted against it.

Five of them gathered in a downtown restaurant for dinner later. They were all smiles.

"They have the best of both worlds," a Republican lobbyist commented. "Their governor got what he wanted without their help. They may be the only faces that look familiar around here in a couple of years."

Union Pacific, Southern Railroads Struck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cabinet, railroad and union officials bargained through the night but failed to head off a strike today against two major railroads.

The strike is on against the Union Pacific and Southern railroads, said Charles Luna, president of the AFL-CIO United Transportation Union. "We're still bargaining," he said. "We're going to get some rest."

Luna was joined in the extraordinary summit session which began at 7 p.m. Thursday by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe and five railroad presidents.

The strike over work rules would idle an estimated 48,000 employees on the two roads and affect Southern and Western states. However, effects of the strike—the nation's third major rail stoppage in seven months—would be felt in various degrees by other railroads as surely as the nation's rail system is joined together. Few commuters would be affected.

Also at the Labor Department bargaining table were the president of the Norfolk & Western and a representative for the Southern Pacific, the two roads set for a UPU strike next Friday, and the president of Chicago and North Western whose 6 a.m. strike deadline has been delayed by a federal court until July 23.

The UPU represents 190,000 brakemen and other operating crew members.

UTU members planned to report at the rest of the nation's railroads and work under much harsher rules promised by the industry as retaliation for the selective, or "whipsaw" walkouts against the Southern and UP.

In addition to work rules, key issues are wages and working conditions.

Railroad spokesmen have argued the UPU should accept a contract package similar to the one signed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. That package included a 42-per-cent pay raise over 42 months and elimination of disputed work rules.

One of the key work rules at issue requires train crews to change after around 100 miles of travel.

To combat the whipsaw strike, the railroad industry promised to impose tougher work rules against employees of nonstriking lines, including raising that 100-mile limit, eliminating extra pay for certain tasks and requiring yard crews to service all sidings within four miles of their yard.

Thieu And Ky Mum On Drug Traffic Links

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had no immediate comment today on a report that the illegal drug traffic is helping to finance their presidential campaigns.

Phil Brady, a National Broadcasting Co. correspondent in Saigon, said his report was based on information from Vietnamese sources. It was broadcasted Thursday on NBC Nightly News.

Brady said the sources told him that many illegal drugs are brought in by the Vietnamese air force with the "blessing" of Ky, a former commander of the air force.

The sources, Brady said, claimed Ky made a fortune smuggling gold and opium and "went on to say since becoming vice president Ky left the job to trusted subordinates in the air force but still shares in the profits. And, they added, Ky needs the money more than ever before for his presidential campaign chest."

Ky, who has announced he will oppose Thieu in the Oct. 3 election, has denied previous allegations that he smuggled narcotics and gold.

Brady said Thieu is obsessed with being re-elected and because he needs money for the campaign he is "not asking where it comes from."

Brady quoted his sources as saying "another outfit pushing drugs is the Vietnamese national police," commanded by Maj. Gen. Tran Thanh Phong, who "is said to also be raising money for the presidential race."

Mitchell Attacks Judiciary For 'Making Public Policy'

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said today the American judiciary has spent too much time "making new law and new public policy," and too little determining guilt or innocence.

Taking to task both the bar and the bench, Mitchell said: "We face in the United States a situation where the discovery of guilt or innocence as a function of the courts is in danger of drowning in a sea of legalisms."

The judiciary, he said, should "recognize that perhaps it has been too preoccupied in the exhilarating adventure of making new law and new public policy from the bench, and that this function of the courts has outdistanced the more sober task of judging guilt or innocence."

Hitting at a favorite theme in remarks prepared for the general assembly of the American Bar Association, Mitchell said both judges and lawyers have a responsibility to see that the right of an individual to a fair trial does not outweigh the right of society to speedy justice.

He decried what he termed "the Hydra of excess proceduralisms, archaic formalisms, pretrial motions, post-trial motions, appeals, postponements, continuances, collateral attacks, which can have the effect of dragging justice to death and stealing the very life out of the law."

Mitchell called on the legal profession to work for solutions to the crowded court dockets, lengthy trials and numerous appeals he said are resulting in a "loss of public confidence in the courts."

"My plea is for the profession to intensify its reforms in these conceptual areas—to revive the court's primary function as a finder of fact, to restore finally as one of the attributes of justice, to breathe life into the ancient adage, 'justice delayed is justice denied.'"

"For its part, the bar needs to review some serious ethical questions. Every attorney is, after all, an officer of the court, and is duty-bound to preserve its effectiveness," Mitchell said.

"In its turn, the bench is in the best position to halt the stampede of delaying tactics that is overrunning the name of justice itself. I can exercise great judgement in identifying and resisting those devices designed to obstruct rather than to promote justice."

Demo Reform Commission Sees 38-State Compliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic reform commission said today 38 state parties will have complied by the end of this year with new guidelines designed to seat more political newcomers as 1972 national convention delegates.

The commission chairman, Rep. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota, said the other 12 states and the District of Columbia have been slowed in many cases by laws and political customs.

Fraser said the 18 guidelines represent the Democratic party's most fundamental reform in a century and "demonstrate conclusively that we are the party of the people."

Their intent, he said, is to end restrictive rules and practices reformers charge have made delegate selection an in-group activity.

Fraser said the lagging states could spark credentials fights at next year's convention in Miami Beach.

They are not reluctant necessarily to go along with the new rules, he said. "They just haven't set dates for action."

The states are Alaska, California, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maryland, Rhode Island, New Mexico, Texas, West Virginia, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Illinois, he said.

"But while the 40-state goal is in sight for 1971," he said in remarks prepared for the commission, "our goal has always been full compliance by all the state Democratic parties. It will continue to be nothing less."

In an interview, however, Fraser conceded compliance by all states seems far in the future, at best. He cited an example, Michigan, where precinct committeemen who serve as county convention delegates already have been elected—violating the party's requirement that all stages of the national convention delegate-selection process take place in the year of the convention.

Although the guidelines allow states to make "substantial efforts" to bring about reform, Fraser said Michigan delegates could become involved in seat-fights next year.

Teenage Headaches

Headaches in teenagers may stem from a variety of causes such as anxiety and tension — over school, parents, friends, social acceptance, and future careers. Yet, a most common cause of reoccurring headaches in adolescents actually results from a physical problem — occipital neuralgia. This disorder involves misalignment of the spinal vertebrae in the neck, with tension on muscles, nerves and blood vessels in the neck and scalp area. A careful history in these cases will usually reveal an injury to the neck from falls, accidents, or in some cases, from accumulated distortion in the teenager's spine from poor posture. If your teenager complains of headaches take him to your family doctor or chiropractor for a spinal and posture examination. Teenage headaches usually responds quickly under chiropractic health care.

But Rep. John Bechtold, R-65 Cincinnati, said the Republicans need new leadership. "They can start at state headquarters and come right down through the Legislature," he said.

There were some Democrats who were also unhappy with the tax package as it passed the House, but Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, managed to keep them quiet until after the vote was taken.

The Senate takes up the bill Tuesday morning, when Sen. Michael Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, has scheduled its first hearing in the Senate Ways and Means Committee. The Senate has had the House's $7.8 billion budget under consideration for more than a month.

Republicans control the Senate 20-13. The tax bill needs 17 votes to pass, and it is expected to draw the necessary four GOP ballots.

Matthews said that the only remedy available to the taxpayers who filed for an injunction is injunction relief which can only be granted by a common pleas court.

A group here, calling itself Citizens Committee Against Fluoridation, filed suit originally on Nov. 11, 1969, only 11 days after the state legislature amended the Ohio Revised Code to require a minimum level of fluoride content in public water supplies.

Matthews said that the statute did not have "uniform" operation because of the referendum portion. He said the law is of a general nature and would be within the police power of the state if it did not violate the section of the state constitution which says that "all laws of a general nature shall have uniform operation through the state . . ."

Demo Reform Commission Sees 38-State Compliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic reform commission said today 38 state parties will have complied by the end of this year with new guidelines designed to seat more political newcomers as 1972 national convention delegates.

The commission chairman, Rep. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota, said the other 12 states and the District of Columbia have been slowed in many cases by laws and political customs.

Fraser said the 18 guidelines represent the Democratic party's most fundamental reform in a century and "demonstrate conclusively that we are the party of the people."

Their intent, he said, is to end restrictive rules and practices reformers charge have made delegate selection an in-group activity.

Fraser said the lagging states could spark credentials fights at next year's convention in Miami Beach.

They are not reluctant necessarily to go along with the new rules, he said. "They just haven't set dates for action." The states are Alaska, California, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maryland, Rhode Island, New Mexico, Texas, West Virginia, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Illinois, he said.

"But while the 40-state goal is in sight for 1971," he said in remarks prepared for the commission, "our goal has always been full compliance by all the state Democratic parties. It will continue to be nothing less."

In an interview, however, Fraser conceded compliance by all states seems far in the future, at best. He cited an example, Michigan, where precinct committeemen who serve as county convention delegates already have been elected—violating the party's requirement that all stages of the national convention delegate-selection process take place in the year of the convention.

Although the guidelines allow states to make "substantial efforts" to bring about reform, Fraser said Michigan delegates could become involved in seating fights next year.

Stock List Gets Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market got a boost today from apparent investor enthusiasm over President Nixon's pending trip to Communist China.

Trading was moderate.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.65 to 892.52.

Advances outpaced declines by 2 to 1 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said investors considered the President's planned trip to Peking to be a favorable development and noted that peace hopes long had been a market stimulant.

Also in the news background was the government's announcement that the nation's economy advanced steadily in the April-June period, while inflation dropped to its lowest rate in three years.

Teenage Headaches

Headaches in teenagers may stem from a variety of causes such as anxiety and tension — over school, parents, friends, social acceptance, and future careers. Yet a most common cause of recurring headaches in adolescents actually results from a physical problem — occipital neuralgia. This disorder involves misalignment of the spinal vertebrae in the neck, with tension on muscles, nerves and blood vessels in the neck and scalp area. A careful history in these cases will usually reveal an injury to the neck from falls, accidents, or in some cases, from accumulated distortion in the teenager's spine from poor posture. If your teenager complains of headaches take him to your family doctor or chiropractor for a spinal and posture examination. Teenage headaches usually respond quickly under chiropractic health care.

But Rep. John Bechtold, R-65 Cincinnati, said the Republicans need new leadership. "They can start at state headquarters and come right down through the Legislature," he said.

There were some Democrats who were also unhappy with the tax package as it passed the House, but Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, managed to keep them quiet until after the vote was taken.

The Senate takes up the bill Tuesday morning, when Sen. Michael Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, has scheduled its first hearing in the Senate Ways and Means Committee. The Senate has had the House's $7.8 billion budget under consideration for more than a month.

Republicans control the Senate 20-13. The tax bill needs 17 votes to pass, and it is expected to draw the necessary four GOP ballots.

Land Sale Block Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A former Ohio State University graduate student urged the House Judiciary Committee Thursday to block sale of 15.9 acres of university land to industrial Nucleonics Corp. because OSU Vice President for Finance Gordon Carson holds stock in the company.

Fred Bittles of Columbus, representing the OSU Association for Teaching and Research Assistants, testified before the committee against a bill that would authorize the sale without competitive bidding. The bill has already passed the Senate.

During debate in the Senate it was shown that Carson owns about $35,000 worth of Industrial Nucleonics stock.

"No one is suggesting that Carson is trying to make a profit in this transaction," Bittles said. But he added that "we can't help but feel that it's a little naive to believe that his influence, his stature and his respect at the university is not an operating influence in the relationship between Industrial Nucleonics and the university."

Bittles urged an investigation into possible conflict of interest in connection with the sale.

People of good will, solid family relationships, happy endings are absent from a great deal of modern literature. But recently the library has added several titles which reverse this trend. In today's column Nelle Francis discusses some of them.

"Leaving House" by Arthur Cavanaugh is a sweet story of family life. The "Indians" and their parents are closely knit, clean, wholesome and endearing to the reader. This book is a contrast to the dissension and unhappiness many families live today. I am glad I had the opportunity and privilege of reading "Leaving House."

Wallace Stegner says his "Angle of Repose" is a "story about time, about people who live through it and who believe in a past and a future." The book is written differently from the average one. It is actually two stories: one about the man who writes and the one he writes! From diaries and letters and government records we learn of the efforts of a man, an earlier engineer, a man working before his time; a devoted and trusting husband who never quite succeeds in any of his efforts. His wife is a cultivated Eastern woman, yearning for all those things she leaves in the East, who works for so many homes in the new West. This is a loveable, heartbreaking story of the period from 1860 to 1970.

"Time Out for Happiness" by Frank Gilbreth is a follow-up of "Cheaper by the Dozen." It concerns one of these children and her efforts to make something out of her life. All is told in an amusing way and we see a girl growing up to become one of the nation's leading authorities on home management and aid to the handicapped.

Dunston Ramsey, hero of "Fifth Business" by Robertson Davies, is a native of Canada. We learn of his family life, its effect on him, his World War I injury and his religious and supernatural belief. He spends years teaching in a boys' school. His role toward the case of a woman he had known as a boy and for whom he feels responsible is a bit unusual.

"We are a nation afraid . . . that in giving others a share in freedom we will lose it, as if there were not enough freedom to go around," he writes of the civil rights struggle of blacks in which he twice went to jail.

But he maintains that social involvement demands prayer that the two are interdependent.

As an educational administrator, Dean Allen, a World War II Army officer and magazine writer before entering the ministry, said that "if there ever was a time in history for understanding the meaning of the Cross, this is it."

Noting that Jesus, in the defeat of the Crucifixion, actually was victorious, he added:

"Maybe it's time for withdrawal, for a moratorium. If we've totally given up, we may be ready for triumph. At least faith means being able to live in the midst of squalor and still find beauty, meaning and purpose."

Middle Class Whites Alienated?

With GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaving a scene of human struggle and hope, he has moved into a studious atmosphere. From turbulence, he has stepped into comparative quiet. Yet it's an area, he says of deepening affliction in America.

"It's ominous," says the Rev. J. Michael Allen, New Haven, Conn., the new associate dean of Yale Divinity School.

"More and more, it has become clear that a fundamental, emerging problem in our country is the despair and alienation of white, middle-class youth. And that means in the universities."

Dean Allen for 10 years was an Episcopal minister on Manhattan's shabby lower East Side where he mixed robust worship, drama, art, jailtime, marches and battling for social and racial justice. Of his shift to the academic world, he says:

"It's where they hurt and need has intensified. Students have fallen into a terrible despair. It just wells up in them. They're crying out for something, for gentleness and compassion. But they see only horrors."

"So they're giving up, cutting out. That's why the campuses have been so quiet this year. It's a frightening thing for the future of the kids and the future of the country."

A bearded, vigorous priest of 43, Dean Allen took up his post July 1, as director of Berkeley

Center, a center for experimentation in the training of ministers for the church.

It was created out of a new affiliation between Yale and Berkeley Divinity School, of which he remains dean.

His new book, "This Time, This Place," published by Bobbs-Merrill, is a moving, perceptive commentary on faith under fire of modern challenges to it.

"We are a nation afraid ... that in giving others a share in freedom we will lose it, as if there were not enough freedom to go around," he writes of the civil rights struggle of blacks in which he twice went to jail.

But he maintains that social involvement demands prayer that the two are interdependent.

As an educational administrator, Dean Allen, a World War II Army officer and magazine writer before entering the ministry, said that "if there ever was a time in history for understanding the meaning of the Cross, this is it."

Noting that Jesus, in the defeat of the Crucifixion, actually was victorious, he added:

"Maybe it's time for withdrawal, for a moratorium. If we've totally given up, we may be ready for triumph. At least faith means being able to live in the midst of squalor and still find beauty, meaning and purpose."

Bringing It Home

Perhaps one big reason the government has such a hard time balancing the national budget is that most citizens find it difficult to think in terms of billions of dollars.

Some interesting statistics which show how much $1 billion actually is should be kept in mind the next time a money-gobbling federal program is proposed.

One billion dollar bills placed end to end would extend a distance of 96,670 miles, or about four times around the world.

One billion dollars would buy more than 300,000 new cars at $3,000 each. Placed bumper to bumper they would stretch half way across the U.S.

If a man were to spend money at the rate of one dollar a minute, it would take him 2,000 years to spend $1 billion.

All the food produced and consumed on all the farms of the U.S. in a single year could be purchased for one billion dollars.

Perhaps there is only one thing to add. Every single one of those dollars the government spends comes from one source, the American taxpayers' pocketbook.

Tourist Boost

Every summer national boundaries melt as a wave of humanity moves from its accustomed habitat to find the excitement of some new and different place. Like flows of trade and other exchanges between countries, tourism also changes, but for different reasons.

Where people go on their vacation trips is dictated by the cost. Thus, many thousands of tourists in Europe and other parts of the world view North America as the place they would most like to see, but settle for destinations closer to home and less expensive to reach.

That may change in the near future, as a consequence of the increased fare competition among major airlines. It is possible that a round-trip flight across the Atlantic may soon be within the range of $200, for those willing to make reservations well in advance.

That cost would bring North America within sight of many Europeans. Conversely, of course, more North Americans will be able to travel abroad. But the difference in incomes between the two continents favors a greater return in lower fares coming from Europe than going to it.

What it adds up to is the potential for a new tourist boom. That is good news in any language.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Experience teaches us that it is always wise to take a long, hard look at assumptions widely taken for granted. To name a few:

—BIGGER IS BETTER. During much of the 1960s this notion was pursued by hundreds of corporate enterprises, most of them convinced that the sum really could be bigger than the parts.

Conglomerating was the name of the game, the route to bigger profits, the remedy for deficits and most other ills. Moid 5, 10 or 20 companies into one and they'll all be better for it.

The rationale generally was that bigness makes possible easier access to financing, reduction in duplicate efforts and so on. There were enough successes to imply that the idea was correct.

Now there is growing suspicion that while bigness might be better, it might be better only to a point, after which it becomes bad. References to dinosaurs are constantly made in speeches and articles.

The bankruptcy of the Penn Central Railroad, the inefficiency of huge utilities, the impaired borrowing capacity of Lockheed Aircraft and the dependence of other aerospace are fueling the criticism.

Doubts are being raised about the ability of centralized management to know what is going on in its divisions, about its ability to retain the loyalty of worker and community. Concern is expressed about lagging productivity and thwarted initiative.

And one of the areas in which solutions are being sought is, of all things, smallness. Smaller units allow for more imagination and innovation, it is said, as well as better identification with worker and community.

RISE. It would seem so, because the upward pressure has continued to grow relentlessly, despite efforts to control or lower them.

The Tax Foundation calculates that per capita tax payments rose from $365 in 1950 to $1,348 in 1970. Even with inflation wrung out, that 1970 figure totals $850, or more than double the 1950 tax toll.

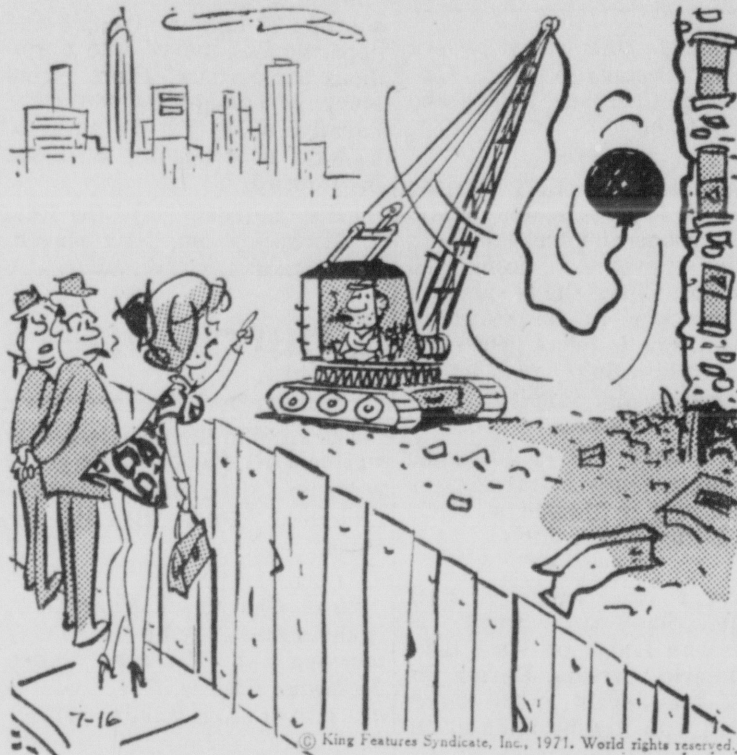

"Nor is the end in sight," said the chairman, Alger B. Chapman, in the foundation's annual report on government finance.

"Despite the indisputable need for prudence in fiscal affairs, expenditures at all levels of government continue to climb without halt. Taxes and public debt inevitably follow."

Chapman may, however, be too close to the statistics to detect what other observers hear, at town meetings, for instance. There appears to be a growing resentment against waste and inefficiency, pressure for priorities in spending and more accountability by those who spend.

The Vietnam experience has convinced many Americans that the country cannot afford to spend for a foreign war and attempt to maintain a "peace-time" economy at home.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AMERICAN politicians long have cherished some mighty peculiar—and controversial—opinions about the inscrutable Asiatics—reminiscent often of Gluyas Williams' drawings of "various places by people who have never been there." In the early 1940's, for example, Nebraska's Senator Kenneth Wherry proclaimed, "With God's help we will lift Shanghai up and over—ever up—until it's just like Kansas City!"

You have to read George Stewart's encyclopedia "American Place Names" to realize how many towns in our broad land today bear almost unbelievable names—wished upon them by capricious or egomaniacal founders. Mr. Stewart starts his list with Ababa Duset, Maine, and winds up with Zyrba, Oklahoma. In between, you'll find such gems as Peculiar, Mo., Yum Yum, Tenn., Tumtum, Wash. and Braggadocio, Mo. Then there's Geon Dip, Alaska, Ink, Missouri (again!) Kiss Me Quick, S.D., Delusion, Wyo., and Snicketaw, Calif. It doesn't take a Sherlock Holmes, incidentally, to figure out that that last one is simply Watkins spelled backwards.

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes always warned fledgling lawyers that precedent was not the only thing they should rely on when making decisions. "When the ghosts of dead figures play too loudly in your heads," he summarized, "the laws are silent."

Dear Master S.: Your biology teacher rather than your basketball coach might easily have explained this remarkable body mechanism to you. It is complicated and yet it illustrated how wonderful the body systems are.

Any blow to the solar plexus is a massive shock to the entire nervous system. When this occurs, there is a sudden rush of blood to the abdomen, leaving an insufficient amount to flow to the brain.

This accounts for the sensation of faintness, the paleness of the face and lips and the dryness of the mouth. Quickly a message is sent to the heart asking it to pump more blood, more rapidly, so that the brain can once again have its normal amount of oxygen. Thus the heart rate, or the pulse rate, quickly increases. The sensation you describe is exactly what happens when someone faints due to an emotional or a physical shock.

Our Taxes Spread Poverty

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Did President Richard Nixon miss the boat when he decided not to press for income tax cuts this year? William J. Fitzgerald, a Washington-based market research consultant, thinks so. His arguments are unorthodox, ingenious — and highly plausible.

The orthodox way of taxing is to take progressively bigger bites out of the higher brackets without reference to the spending practices of separate age groups. If the various age-group "cells" were equal in size, the effects on consumption of a newly imposed progressive income tax might be easily predictable. Mr. Fitzgerald's point is that nobody in Congress or the U.S. Treasury or the State capitals ever bothers to determine how many people there are in a given age group at any given time or what their cumulative spending patterns may be.

The different age groups have different needs, and that is necessary money to a young couple faced with providing a home, with all its "durables" such as a refrigerator, a washing machine, a set of furniture and a car, may not be necessary at all to an elderly family that reached retirement status. The income tax operates without reference to spending needs. Nobody in government gives proper consideration to what Mr. Fitzgerald calls "consumer dynamics," so we get depressions when we think prosperity is going to continue, and unemployment even when the money supply, as measured by the Federal Reserve Bank reports, is increasing.

Mr. Fitzgerald works with a computerized model of the economy which takes account of the changing population balance in the various age groups. He thinks he has a good idea of who spends what, when and for what. We had smaller families during the 1929-39 depression, and the restricted birthrate of Rooseveltian times meant that in the decade of the 60s we had a comparatively small number of mature adult consumers. But the post-war baby boom changed things: through the early and middle 70s we shall have a larger number of maturing families. These must be consumption-oriented in the nature of things: in Mr. Fitzgerald's computerized findings the "25-34 age cell" is bound to be a "dissaving cell."

It must spend for the solid things that keep a modern economy in full production. The construction industry the hard goods industries, the automobile factories of Detroit, depend upon it. So it is important not to sock this particular "age cell" with inflation and a big progressive income tax bite.

This is at the root of Mr. Fitzgerald's feeling that we need tax cuts during the 70s to keep the "life blood of the economy from being drained away." I went to Mr. Fitzgerald for some clarifying advice when my own state of Connecticut was faced with an income tax. He said it would compound the anemia we already have in the nation's productive system.

The general theory on which the politicians work is that if you take tax money from one class irrespective of spending habits and use it to pay for relief and social services for the poor you have merely redistributed the available purchasing power. This is a meat-axe way of looking at it. The redistributed money goes for soft goods and, as Mr. Fitzgerald puts it, "all the things that contribute to higher prices." It would be better for everyone, the poor included if the money were passed through the manufacturing system, bringing cars and refrigerators into being before it ends up at the grocer's or in the hands of the doctor.

The New York State tax system, which piles local income taxes on top of high sales taxes, is, according to Mr. Fitzgerald, a particularly crippling system. "It socks everybody in the chops," says Mr. Fitzgerald everybody in New York State was poorer in 1969-70 save those on relief.

Mr. Fitzgerald's computerized model tells him that between now and 1975, assuming a 4 per cent annual inflation, the tax system will take an additional 1.5 per cent out of our disposable income. Since I am not a computer programmer myself, I have to take it on trust that this will reduce real growth from 3.8 per cent annually to 3.2 per cent. Considering the way people move in and out of the "age cells" over a five-year period, this will mean a $15 billion loss in our ability to consume. Says Mr. Fitzgerald, this amounts to half the total annual revenue of Detroit.

State income taxes will merely make things worse, setting up a compensating need for reducing the Federal income tax. But President Nixon doesn't listen to the likes of Mr. Fitzgerald.

3 Plead Guilty To Drug Charges At Delaware

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Three Michigan residents who were to stand trial on drug charges this week pleaded guilty instead Wednesday. They were arrested during a raid on a Delaware County motel in which $250,000 worth of drugs were seized.

Ben Washington, 38, of Saginaw, was sentenced to from five to 33 years in the Ohio Penitentiary for possession of heroin and cocaine and carrying a concealed weapon.

Sandra Sangster, 25, of Saginaw, and Bernadine Elliott, 18, of Detroit were placed on one year's probation after pleading guilty to possession of hallucinogens.

Officials said the three were arrested after an undercover agent arranged a drug purchase from Washington. They said cocaine, heroin and marijuana were seized.

Our Taxes Spread Poverty

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Did President Richard Nixon miss the boat when he decided not to press for income tax cuts this year? William J. Fitzgerald, a Washington-based market research consultant, thinks so. His arguments are unorthodox, ingenious — and highly plausible.

The orthodox way of taxing is to take progressively bigger bites out of the higher brackets without reference to the spending practices of separate age groups. If the various age-group "cells" were equal in size, the effects on consumption of a newly imposed progressive income tax might be easily predictable. Mr. Fitzgerald's point is that nobody in Congress or the U.S. Treasury or the State capitals ever bothers to determine how many people there are in a given age group at any given time or what their cumulative spending patterns may be.

The different age groups have different needs, and that is necessary money to a young couple faced with providing a home, with all its "durables" such as a refrigerator, a washing machine, a set of furniture and a car, may not be necessary at all to an elderly family that reached retirement status. The income tax operates without reference to spending needs. Nobody in government gives proper consideration to what Mr. Fitzgerald calls "consumer dynamics," so we get depressions when we think prosperity is going to continue, and unemployment even when the money supply, as measured by the Federal Reserve Bank reports, is increasing.

Mr. Fitzgerald works with a computerized model of the economy which takes account of the changing population balance in the various age groups. He thinks he has a good idea of who spends what, when and for what. We had smaller families during the 1929-39 depression, and the restricted birthrate of Rooseveltian times meant that in the decade of the 60s we had a comparatively small number of mature adult consumers. But the post-war baby boom changed things: through the early and middle 70s we shall have a larger number of maturing families. These must be consumption-oriented in the nature of things: in Mr. Fitzgerald's computerized findings the "25-34 age cell" is bound to be a "dissaving cell."

It must spend for the solid things that keep a modern economy in full production. The construction industry the hard goods industries, the automobile factories of Detroit, depend upon it. So it is important not to sock this particular "age cell" with inflation and a big progressive income tax bite.

This is at the root of Mr. Fitzgerald's feeling that we need tax cuts during the 70s to keep the "life blood of the economy from being drained away." I went to Mr. Fitzgerald for some clarifying advice when my own state of Connecticut was faced with an income tax. He said it would compound the anemia we already have in the nation's productive system.

The general theory on which the politicians work is that if you take tax money from one class irrespective of spending habits and use it to pay for relief and social services for the poor, you have merely redistributed the available purchasing power. This is a meat-axe way of looking at it. The redistributed money goes for soft goods and, as Mr. Fitzgerald puts it, "all the things that contribute to higher prices." It would be better for everyone, the poor included if the money were passed through the manufacturing system, bringing cars and refrigerators into being before it ends up at the grocer's or in the hands of the doctor.

The New York State tax system, which piles local income taxes on top of high sales taxes, is, according to Mr. Fitzgerald, a particularly crippling system. "It socks everybody in the chops," says Mr. Fitzgerald everybody in New York State was poorer in 1969-70 than in 1960.

Mr. Fitzgerald's computerized model tells him that between now and 1975, assuming a 4 per cent annual inflation, the tax system will take an additional 1.5 per cent out of our disposable income. Since I am not a computer programmer myself, I have to take it on trust that this will reduce real growth from 3.8 per cent annually to 3.2 per cent. Considering the way people move in and out of the "age cells" over a five-year period, this will mean a $15 billion loss in our ability to consume. Says Mr. Fitzgerald, this amounts to half the total annual revenue of Detroit.

State income taxes will merely make things worse, setting up a compensating need for reducing the Federal income tax. But President Nixon doesn't listen to the likes of Mr. Fitzgerald.

life of a television performer can sometimes be a case of feast or famine, as actress Patte Finley will testify.

When you're a regular in a series, the money rolls in. And when you're canceled the checks stop arriving.

In 1969 Patte made "From a Bird's-Eye View," which is now being shown on NBC. "I was Mrs. Gotrocks that year all over Europe," she said.

In 1970 she made exactly $1,750 and her only job was a guest shot on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." She said, "People ask me how I lived. Cheaply. No, off my savings. It was not the best of years. I got all my U.S. federal income tax back. My accountant, who charged me $250 the year before, offered to do it free."

Patte—pronounced Pat—is now taping NBC's "The Funny Side," which will take a humorous look at the American way of life.

"If I hadn't got 'The Funny Side' I think I would have just given up," she said. But even at the beginning of this year things began to look up. She got another guest shot on the Moore show and did several commercials as "your average Mrs. Housewife."

She is also cast as a housewife on "The Funny Side." In fact, as the Middle America wife of a blue collar worker. Everyone in the cast will represent a stereotype. "We're trying to show the funny side of what's happening in America today," she said.

Patte, daughter of a Supreme Court judge in the state of Washington, got her start Off Broadway 12 years, then landed part in "Kiss Me Kate," "Damn Yankees," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and other stage shows. Her big break came when she got the second lead in "Hello, Dolly!" during the show's second year and stayed with it through the fourth year.

Patte, who is only 5-foot-2 but has a laugh loud enough to start a landslide, said, "I was very commercial because I sang, danced and did comedy. I was saleable. I was standing on the right side of the door when saleability was handed out. But I worked and studied hard."

"I've done well in show business," she said. "I've made a lot of money. I've got the jewels and the fur coats and I've bought land. But it's a terribly insecure business. If you're smart enough to make money you had better save some of it."

Abortion Law Change Nixed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee has turned thumbs down on a proposal to liberalize Ohio's abortion laws.

The committee voted 9-1 Thursday against an amendment that would permit an abortion if the mother's physical or mental health was threatened by the pregnancy.

Under present law two physicians must certify that the mother's life would be endangered if the pregnancy were allowed to proceed.

The new proposal was offered by Rep. Harry Lehman, D-6 Shaker Heights.

Dear Abby: Grieving Mother Creates Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A year ago my father passed away. He was 69 years old. Since then my mother has been carrying on until she has me half crazy.

You would think she was the only women ever to lose a husband. She had a good life with him and she should be grateful she had him that long.

However, my real problem is that I live only a block away from her. I run over every day, but it's not enough for her. She spends every free hour at my house saying she has nothing to live for and she is going to take an "overdose."

She keeps saying she can't live alone. (I think she wants to move in with me and that would be the end of me.) She is not disabled in any way, but she complains and whines constantly until I am about to have a nervous breakdown.

I have no privacy. She has brothers and sisters, but she is here all the time, or else she's at home calling me to come over. She won't ever turn on her TV. She'd rather sit and feel sorry for herself.

She criticizes everything and tears everyone to pieces. My husband is thinking of asking for a transfer so we can move away. What else can we do?

Ex-Lebanon Fireman May Face Prison

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A former Lebanon fireman, indicted on five counts of arson, will be sentenced Aug. 16 on a charge of attempting to burn property.

Thomas Burke, 36, one of three former uniformed employees of Lebanon indicted in connection with an investigation into arson cases, pleaded guilty Thursday in Warren County Common Pleas Court to the lesser charge. Judge P. Daniel Fedders continued his bond at $1,000 and set the sentencing date.

James Ruppert, Warren County prosecutor, said the charge was based on the fifth arson count which resulted from an eyewitness account of a stake-out at an unoccupied building here. The eyewitness said the arson attempt failed.

Ruppert said the other four arson indictments were dropped because there was no eyewitness to testify in the cases.

Regarding the charge to which Burke confessed, his attorney said he (Burke) "realized what he did was wrong, but did not do it with intent of harming anyone."

On the reduced charge, Burke could be fined as much as $1,000 and be sent to prison for up to two years.

Trials are slated later this summer for former Lebanon policeman Robert Himes; and his brother, George Himes, a former fireman. Both men and Burke were charged as the result of a year-long investigation into suspected arson cases involving several uninhabited buildings in the area.

DEAR ABBY: A 19-year-old man (if you can call him that) was recently found guilty of beating two of his girl friend's children, and he was given the maximum penalty of 180 days in the workhouse. The children, ages 4 and 5, were taken to the hospital and treated for numerous lacerations and welts across their backs, which the state claimed were inflicted by a knotted electric cord.

The mother of these battered tots was 17 years old, and she had three other children—one per year beginning when she was 12 years old!

Now if this isn't a case in favor of planned parenthood, I don't know what is.

FBI Officers Aid In Police Murders

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover disclosed Thursday FBI agents now will investigate murders of policemen when asked to do so by local law-enforcement agencies.

However, an FBI spokesman reported there have been no such requests since the new policy was adopted last month in the wake of White House meetings on police killings.

"Nobody has asked us," the spokesman said, adding 96.4 per cent of police murders are solved by local authorities within 30 days.

For that reason, and because of Hoover's insistence the FBI not be made a federal police force, the agency has consistently opposed legislation making killing a policeman a federal crime.

In his report for the fiscal year ended June 30, Hoover disclosed the FBI will do by invitation basis what it opposes doing on a mandatory basis.

The switch in policy apparently came after President Nixon called Hoover, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and a score of state and local police officials to the White House to express concern over a rising number of police deaths.

Astronauts Of Apollo 15 To Seek Volcanic Evidence

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —

For ages scientists have argued whether all the moon's craters were created by meteor impact, or whether some are volcanic. The Apollo 15 astronauts may make an on-the-spot settlement of the question.

The Apollo 15 launch is scheduled for Monday, July 26. During their exploration of the Hadley-Appennine landing site, David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will examine two areas that might be associated with volcanism.

They are the Hadley Rille, a 1,200-foot gorge that meanders for 70 miles in the Sea of Rains, and a group of craters known as the North Complex. Photographs indicate these craters might be dormant volcanoes.

During two of their three excursions on the surface, the astronauts will drive their four-wheel moon buggy to different spots on the rim of the mile-wide rille.

"We'll collect some samples at the rim and make observations," Scott said.

"The rilles are found many places on the moon, so it would be nice to know what they are in trying to reconstruct the history of the moon," Scott explained. He noted there are many theories about their formation, including water flow, lava flow, the flow of hot gases due to volcanism, collapsed lava tubes or open faults.

"We'll be looking for stratification that could indicate a series of flows," the Apollo 15 commander said. "Even when we get there and look at it, I don't think we're going to be able to tell why it's there until we get back and the geologists study the photography and samples."

Apollo 15's best chance of proving the volcano theory will be at North Complex, a two-mile drive from the landing site.

Will they be able to tell on the spot if the craters are volcanic? "We've gone through a lot of training to make that judgment," Irwin replied. "Hopefully we'll find evidence of a lava flow which would be an immediate clue."

FBI Officers Aid In Police Murders

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover disclosed Thursday FBI agents now will investigate murders of policemen when asked to do so by local law-enforcement agencies.

However, an FBI spokesman reported there have been no such requests since the new policy was adopted last month in the wake of White House meetings on police killings.

"Nobody has asked us," the spokesman said, adding 96.4 per cent of police murders are solved by local authorities within 30 days.

For that reason, and because of Hoover's insistence the FBI not be made a federal police force, the agency has consistently opposed legislation making killing a policeman a federal crime.

In his report for the fiscal year ended June 30, Hoover disclosed the FBI will do by invitation basis what it opposes doing on a mandatory basis.

The switch in policy apparently came after President Nixon called Hoover, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and a score of state and local police officials to the White House to express concern over a rising number of police deaths.

Astronauts Of Apollo 15 To Seek Volcanic Evidence

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — For ages scientists have argued whether all the moon's craters were created by meteor impact, or whether some are volcanic. The Apollo 15 astronauts may make an on-the-spot settlement of the question.

The Apollo 15 launch is scheduled for Monday, July 26. During their exploration of the Hadley-Appennine landing site, David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will examine two areas that might be associated with volcanism.

They are the Hadley Rille, a 1,200-foot gorge that meanders for 70 miles in the Sea of Rains, and a group of craters known as the North Complex. Photographs indicate these craters might be dormant volcanoes.

During two of their three excursions on the surface, the astronauts will drive their four-wheel moon buggy to different spots on the rim of the mile-wide rille.

"We'll collect some samples at the rim and make observations," Scott said.

"The rilles are found many places on the moon, so it would be nice to know what they are in trying to reconstruct the history of the moon," Scott explained. He noted there are many theories about their formation, including water flow, lava flow, the flow of hot gases due to volcanism, collapsed lava tubes or open faults.

"We'll be looking for stratification that could indicate a series of flows," the Apollo 15 commander said. "Even when we get there and look at it, I don't think we're going to be able to tell why it's there until we get back and the geologists study the photography and samples."

Apollo 15's best chance of proving the volcano theory will be at North Complex, a two-mile drive from the landing site.

Will they be able to tell on the spot if the craters are volcanic?

"We've gone through a lot of training to make that judgment," Irwin replied. "Hopefully we'll find evidence of a lava flow which would be an immediate clue."

Employee Says J&L Polluter

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —

An 18-year-old employee of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. has charged that the company suspected him because he refused to dump oily wastes into the Cuyahoga River.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has launched an investigation into a complaint by Gilbert Pugliese of Cleveland. He also has filed a report with the Ohio Attorney General's office, which is cracking down on water pollution in the state.

Pugliese claims that J&L regularly dumps "thousands of gallons" of oils, acids and other wastes into the river—usually at night.

J&L has denied the allegations.

The company was fined $5,000 by U.S. District Court in Cleveland in February for polluting the river. Another suit filed by the U.S. Justice Department charged that J&L dumped cyanides, oils and other materials into the river. That case is pending.

Pugliese said he was suspended when he refused an order from the general foreman to dump oily wastes from drainage pits in the basement of the tempering mill into a sewer that empties into the river.

"Polluting the river is not in my line of work," said the millwright. "The company has no right to make me break the law."

Light, Airy Summer Pies Are Hot-Weather Delights

"Pies, often foolishly abused," said Artemus Ward, "is a good creature at the right time and in angles of thirty or forty degrees, although in semi-circles and quadrants it may sometimes prove too much for delicate stomachs." No matter how you slice them, the chilled pies of summer are good creatures. Cool and creamy, they provide a refreshing end to dinner or a snack course that cheers.

Pies, like other sweets, always please. That's because sugar is more than one of our nutrients — it's nature's unique pleasure food as well. No one knows why people so love sweets and the mystery isn't solved by chemical analysis. Nevertheless in every culture sweets please — and offering a guest a nibble of something sweet is unmistakably a friendly gesture. Even dieters have learned that sugar is a generous contributor to one's feeling of well-being. The canny dieter eats sweets — but always in moderation.

When the weather is balmy, the hearty pies of winter give way to lighter, airier fare. And Angel Pie is one of the most delectable confections ever to emerge from a pie plate. The Angel Pie has a flaky meringue shell, baked until crisp and lightly brown. Inside the shell is a fluffy mixture of layers of whipped cream and tangy layers of lemon filling. Once formed, the pie goes into the freezer and you eat it in that chilled fashion.

Mocha Marble Chiffon Pie is another winner. Into a baked pastry shell go two fluffy mixtures — vanilla and mocha, the latter based on a delicious mixture of coffee and chocolate. The fillings go into the shell in alternate spoonfuls to provide an attractive marbled effect.

Cheesecake is a national favorite that almost nudges out apple pie as America's most popular pastry — and cheese pie is equally welcome. The recipe that follows combines cheese pie fillings with a raspberry ripple, and comes to the table with raspberry sauce. It's in a graham cracker crust, too — one of the simplest and most flavorful ways to deal with crust.

"Do you eat pie?" his hostess once asked of Emerson. "What is pie for?" was the ready and philosophical answer. The pies that follow are of course for eating — and with maximum enjoyment.

ANGEL PIE
Basic Meringue Shell
3 egg whites, at room temperature
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup sugar

Beat egg whites with cream of tartar, salt and vanilla until foamy. Continuously beat in sugar, about 1 tablespoon at a time, at slow speed. Continue beating until very stiff and glossy. Spread over bottom and side of well greased 9-inch pie plate; push up side to make high rim. Bake at 250 degrees for 1 hour or until dry and slightly browned. Cool.

Filling
3 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar

Circle 4 Sets Yard Sale

Circle 4 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Valentine, Walnut Creek Pike, with 11 members and five guests present.

Carole Younk, leader of the circle, opened the meeting with a poem entitled "Happiness." Members discussed plans for a yard sale to be held in August and plans for making jam.

Elizabeth Valentine presented the program "The Family Cluster — A Reality Or Illusion?" She was assisted by Polly Thomas and Kathy La Rue. The group sang several hymns accompanied on the organ by Miss Lucille Kirkwood.

Refreshments were served by Elizabeth Valentine assisted by Mabel and Kathy LaRue.

The August meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Robert Wolf.

A sprinkle of fruit - flavored gelatin powder adds color and flavor to sliced bananas, melon wedges, grapefruit and other fruit desserts.

½ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups heavy cream
1-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

In top of double boiler, beat egg yolks until well blended and gradually beat in ¾ cup sugar. Add lemon juice, rind and salt; mix well. Cook over simmering water, stirring almost constantly, until thickened, about 10 minutes. Remove from water and chill in refrigerator.

Combine cream with 1-3 cup sugar and vanilla in chilled bowl. Beat until thick enough to form soft peaks. Spread about 1-3 of whipped cream over bottom of cooled meringue shell and drizzle with 1-3 of cooled lemon mixture. Repeat layering with another 1-3 of cream and lemon mixture, then with remaining third. Freeze several hours or overnight. Makes 8 servings.

MOCHA MARBLE CHIFFON PIE

2-3 cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
¼ cups milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla
1½ squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 teaspoons powdered coffee
3 egg whites
1-3 cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell

In medium saucepan, mix 2-3 cup sugar, gelatin and salt. Beat together egg yolks and milk; stir into gelatin mixture. Place over low heat and stir constantly until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour half of mixture into mixing bowl and set aside. To remaining mixture, add melted chocolate and powdered coffee; stir until smooth. (If chocolate is not completely blended, stir over low heat for about 1 minute.) Chill both mixtures, stirring occasionally, until thick enough to mound slightly when dropped from a spoon. If vanilla mixture thickens before the mocha mixture, remove it from refrigerator and leave at room temperature.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in 1-3 cup sugar and continue beating until very stiff. Divide the beaten whites and fold half into the vanilla and half into the mocha mixture. Divide the whipped cream and fold into each mixture. Alternately spoon each mixture into the baked pastry shell. Gently run the tip of a knife through the filling to give it a marbled appearance. Chill until set, several hours or overnight. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

RASPBERRY RIPLE CHEESE PIE

¾ cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 egg whites
1-3 cup sugar
9-inch graham cracker crust

Raspberry Sauce
Combine ¼ cup sugar, gelatin and salt in a medium saucepan. Beat egg yolks and milk; stir into gelatin mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Beat cheese until smooth and creamy; add lemon juice and rind. Gradually beat in gelatin mixture.

Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually add 1-3 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into cheese mixture. Spoon half the filling into the pie crust. Drizzle with 2 tablespoons Raspberry Sauce. Spoon remaining filling into the crust. Chill until set, about 3 or 4 hours. To serve, drizzle 2 tablespoons Raspberry Sauce over the top of the pie. Serve remaining sauce over each individual slice. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

RASPBERRY SAUCE
1 package (10 oz.) frozen raspberries, thawed
2 tablespoons sugar
Drain raspberries. Then puree the berries through a strainer or in electric blender. Strain to remove seeds. Stir in sugar. Makes about 1-3 cup.

French Strategic Missile Force Nears Completion

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military sources expect France soon will become the fourth nation to place strategic land-based or submarine-launched nuclear missiles in combat readiness.

The French already have 45 Mirage nuclear bombers, and the missiles represent a second generation of France's independent strategic strike force.

U.S. authorities have predicted Communist China will deploy its first medium-range missiles this year, joining the United States, Russia, Britain and France in that nuclear class.

Reports in the Pentagon say France's intermediate-range ballistic missiles IRBM is a two-stage, solid-fuel weapon with a maximum reach of more than 1,500 miles, far enough to hit Moscow.

The first group of nine IRBMs is about ready, U.S. sources said, and a second group should be operational by the end of this year.

A third group has been postponed indefinitely, it was said, perhaps to await perfection of an improved missile.

Meanwhile, U.S. military sources said the first of five missile-firing submarines planned by the French is expected to become combat-ready within the next few months.

The submarine, much like the U.S. Polaris, is reported to have held its first submerged missile-firing test May 9.

Over U.S. opposition, Gen. Charles de Gaulle fathered an independent French nuclear force more than a decade ago.

The Kennedy administration objected because it wanted to limit the spread of nuclear weapons and coordinate Western nuclear power.

But De Gaulle viewed the nuclear force as a means of promoting France's status as a big power. He argued his country needed a nuclear force because he was uncertain the United States would risk its own safety to aid France against Russia.

Greek Aid Cut Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs committee has narrowly rejected two amendments to curb or halt U. S. military aid to Greece, but one member says he is working on a new attempt at passage.

Rep. Wayne Hays, D - Ohio, said a split between backers of the two alternatives caused defeat of both amendments to a one-year foreign aid extension bill Wednesday. He said he believes the committee will approve a revised version of his proposal.

The committee had rejected 14 to 12 Hays' amendment to cut off military aid to Greece unless President Nixon tells Congress the subsidy is "in the over riding interest of the security of the United States."

A 15-vote-defeated an amendment by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., to withhold a $23-million increase in grant aid for Greece until its military junta announces a date for parliamentary elections.

Hays' revised version includes a provision similar to Findley's that the President in any case cannot increase aid to Greece above the present level.

The first group of nine IRBMs is about ready, U.S. sources said, and a second group should be operational by the end of this year.

A third group has been postponed indefinitely, it was said, perhaps to await perfection of an improved missile.

Meanwhile, U.S. military sources said the first of five missile-firing submarines planned by the French is expected to become combat-ready within the next few months.

The submarine, much like the U.S. Polaris, is reported to have held its first submerged missile-firing test May 9.

Over U.S. opposition, Gen. Charles de Gaulle fathered an independent French nuclear force more than a decade ago.

The Kennedy administration objected because it wanted to limit the spread of nuclear weapons and coordinate Western nuclear power.

But De Gaulle viewed the nuclear force as a means of promoting France's status as a big power. He argued his country needed a nuclear force because he was uncertain the United States would risk its own safety to aid France against Russia.

JULY'S BIRTHSTONE

Possessing the most stimulating of all colors, the Ruby has been aptly dedicated to the high noon and bright midsummer. It was thought to contain a glowing spark struck from the planet Mars; a spark that could not be quenched until the world itself grew cold. The Ruby is the birthstone for contentment and peace.

Greek Aid Cut Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs committee has narrowly rejected two amendments to curb or halt U. S. military aid to Greece, but one member says he is working on a new attempt at passage.

Rep. Wayne Hays, D - Ohio, said a split between backers of the two alternatives caused defeat of both amendments to a one-year foreign aid extension bill Wednesday. He said he believes the committee will approve a revised version of his proposal.

The committee had rejected 14 to 12 Hays' amendment to cut off military aid to Greece unless President Nixon tells Congress the subsidy is "in the overriding interest of the security of the United States."

A 15-vote-defeated an amendment by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., to withhold a $23-million increase in grant aid for Greece until its military junta announces a date for parliamentary elections.

Hays' revised version includes a provision similar to Findley's that the President in any case cannot increase aid to Greece above the present level.

How Weather Looks Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms battered central Ohio Thursday night, dumping nearly a half inch of rain on the Columbus area and dropping hailstones up to an inch across.

Severe weather alerts were issued for several central Ohio counties, but were cancelled shortly after midnight.

There were no immediate reports of damage.

Heavy fog blanketed much of the state at dawn with temperatures ranging from the mid 50s to the low 60s.

The overnight showers were related to a weak low pressure trough that extended through eastern Ohio this morning.

A cold front is expected to move into northern Ohio this evening, bringing more clouds and rain to northeastern counties.

Lows tonight will range from the mid 50s to 60, while Saturday's forecast calls for highs in the upper 70s and low 80s under partly cloudy skies.

DAV Supports Family Day

Recognizing the importance of the family unit as the cornerstone of national unity and stability, the Disabled American Veterans will join with the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge in support of Family Reunion Day on August 8.

Originated in 1968 by Kiwanis International and Freedoms Foundation, the holiday is also supported by scores of other service and fraternal organizations, patriotic, youth and religious groups.

Cecil W. Stevenson, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, said, "The DAV, through our work with disabled veterans, their widows and dependents, is keenly aware of the importance of good family relationships. Many times, a man's love for his family, his awareness of their needs, is what gives him the strength to overcome disabling injuries — sometimes against overwhelming odds. We cannot stress enough the need for strengthening family life. This is the basic unit of our society."

Freedoms Foundation's president, General Harold K. Johnson, USA (Ret.), emphasized the importance of the family: "Our capacity to love our fellowman, our sense of integrity, our regard for the dignity of the other fellow, and our respect for authority are first learned in the family circle. Emphasis on the family is a constructive action that counters lawlessness, corruption and moral laxity."

The holiday will be celebrated throughout the United States and Canada with family get togethers, outings, picnics and patriotic events.

Rookie Cops Are Credited In Drug Cases

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two men, one 25 and the other 27, wearing "hip" dress and using aliases spent six months buying drugs from peddlers in Western Cleveland and nearby suburbs.

They found that the drug purchases came easily. Some of the persons they contacted in reported hangouts for drug peddlers offered them "unlimited" supplies of drugs, mainly LSD and other hallucinogens, police sources reported.

The two were rookie policemen whose only police instruction before being sent out to gather evidence in a major suburban crackdown on drug peddlers was a 30-day crash course in narcotics.

The evidence they brought in was the basis for 57 indictments returned last week by the Cuyahoga County grand jury police sources told the Plain Dealer.

The Plain Dealer said police declined to comment officially on the operation, fearing that any information would endanger the agents, whose names were not released.

The investigation was supervised by the West Shore Enforcement Bureau, supported by police from six western suburbs, with the assistance of federal narcotics agents and Cleveland detectives.

Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor William J. Coyne said the agents did a "marvelous" job and had gathered good evidence for his cases. Twelve of those indicted were accused of selling heroin.

Coyne said the largest transaction completed by the agents was the purchase of nearly $300 worth of marijuana.

The agents would take the drugs home with them after their purchases and send the evidence to police laboratories for analyzing.

Other incidents of blacks being assaulted in the area have been reported in the past.

Cuyahoga Budget Gets Tentative OK

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A tentative $299.8 million budget for 1972 was adopted Thursday by the Cuyahoga County Commissioners. The actual budget, which probably will fall $10 million short of the tentative mark, won't be worked out until December.

The tentative budget calls for a 25.25 per cent increase over 1971 spending, with the majority of the increase going for the county welfare department.

Lawrence E. Murtaugh, county administrator, said the increased spending can be attributed to continuing inflationary pressures, high unemployment, negotiated wage increases for public employees, rising welfare and health costs and increased costs for operating the courts. He cautioned county department heads to hold down increasing their operating costs unless authorized by the county commissioners.

Commissioners anticipate receiving $197.5 million in federal and state aid, for health and welfare programs and $102.3 million from county sources.

Adoption of the tentative budget by July 15 is required by state law, even though actual budget figures will not be available until later in the year.

Saxbe Proposes Ravenna Jetport

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, will seek a feasibility study to build a proposed international jetport at the 23,000-acre Ravenna Arsenal in Portage County.

Saxbe said he would ask the Federal Aviation Administration today to begin the study. Another proposed site for the area jetport is Lake Erie, four miles from downtown Cleveland.

Saxbe says he regards the arsenal as the ideal site for the proposed jetport. The arsenal announced recently that 600 employees will be laid off by Aug. 31 because of cutbacks in U.S. military activity in Indochina.

How Weather Looks Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms battered central Ohio Thursday night, dumping nearly a half inch of rain on the Columbus area and dropping hailstones up to an inch across.

Severe weather alerts were issued for several central Ohio counties, but were cancelled shortly after midnight.

There were no immediate reports of damage. Heavy fog blanketed much of the state at dawn with temperatures ranging from the mid 50s to the low 60s.

The overnight showers were related to a weak low pressure trough that extended through eastern Ohio this morning.

A cold front is expected to move into northern Ohio this evening, bringing more clouds and rain to northeastern counties.

Lows tonight will range from the mid 50s to 60, while Saturday's forecast calls for highs in the upper 70s and low 80s under partly cloudy skies.

FORECASTS
NORTHWEST INLAND, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL: Partly cloudy and not much change in temperature tonight and Saturday. Lows tonight 55 to 60. Highs Saturday near 80.

Kentucky's bonded indebtedness is estimated at $1.2 billion.

Reserves Of Deep Coal Believed In Southeast Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A geological survey conducted by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources failed to turn up new deposits of low-sulfur coal, but shows large, unreported reserves of deep coal may be found in four southeastern Ohio counties.

The study was conducted by the Division of Geological Survey with funds from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the National Air Pollution Control Administration and the Natural Resources Department.

DAV Supports Family Day

Recognizing the importance of the family unit as the cornerstone of national unity and stability, the Disabled American Veterans will join with the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge in support of Family Reunion Day on August 8.

Originated in 1968 by Kiwanis International and Freedoms Foundation, the holiday is also supported by scores of other service and fraternal organizations, patriotic, youth and religious groups.

Cecil W. Stevenson, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, said, "The DAV, through our work with disabled veterans, their widows and dependents, is keenly aware of the importance of good family relationships. Many times, a man's love for his family, his awareness of their needs, is what gives him the strength to overcome disabling injuries — sometimes against overwhelming odds. We cannot stress enough the need for strengthening family life. This is the basic unit of our society."

Freedoms Foundation's president, General Harold K. Johnson, USA (Ret.), emphasized the importance of the family: "Our capacity to love our fellowman, our sense of integrity, our regard for the dignity of the other fellow, and our respect for authority are first learned in the family circle. Emphasis on the family is a constructive action that counters lawlessness, corruption and moral laxity."

The holiday will be celebrated throughout the United States and Canada with family get togethers, outings, picnics and patriotic events.

large, deep coal deposits in Meigs, Monroe, Noble and Washington counties with a strong possibility of similar reserves in Belmont and Guernsey counties as well.

The object of the study was to locate low-sulfur coal in the deeper, essentially-unexplored portions of the southeastern Ohio coal basin. Low sulfur coal is at a premium because it produces less sulfur dioxide pollution when it is burned.

The survey failed to turn up evidence of any such deposits. But engineers said they still might be found, since low-sulfur coal reserves generally are small enough to have escaped detection by core sampling procedures used for the survey.

The geological survey drilled 25 deep core holes to carry out its study. The deepest penetrated 1,525 feet of coal-bearing rock. The cores show seven coal beds, some more than 28 inches thick.

The report emphasizes, however, that "much additional drilling will be required to substantiate this interpretation and to develop the area if the projection is found to be essentially correct."

Chartered Bus Hit By Rocks In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A chartered bus carrying 56 black children home from an inner city athletic program was stoned and battered with clubs by white youths in Cleveland's Murray Hill area Thursday. No injuries were reported.

Most of the windows in the bus, chartered from the Cleveland Transit System, were broken. The bus continued on its way following the incident.

The driver, Willie L. Griffin, also black, reported the incident to CTS. Police were investigating and Griffin said he would talk to officers today after consulting an attorney.

Other incidents of blacks being assaulted in the area have been reported in the past.

Witnesses said Griffin yelled to children to get down and he blew his horn to make traffic move out of the way. Griffin then continued to East Side dropoff points and let the children off.

Rookie Cops Are Credited In Drug Cases

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two men, one 25 and the other 27, wearing "hip" dress and using aliases spent six months buying drugs from peddlers in Western Cleveland and nearby suburbs.

They found that the drug purchases came easily. Some of the persons they contacted in reported hangouts for drug peddlers offered them "unlimited" supplies of drugs, mainly LSD and other hallucinogens, police sources reported.

The two were rookie policemen whose only police instruction before being sent out to gather evidence in a major suburban crackdown on drug peddlers was a 30-day crash course in narcotics.

The evidence they brought in was the basis for 57 indictments returned last week by the Cuyahoga County grand jury police sources told the Plain Dealer.

The Plain Dealer said police declined to comment officially on the operation, fearing that any information would endanger the agents, whose names were not released.

The investigation was supervised by the West Shore Enforcement Bureau, supported by police from six western suburbs, with the assistance of federal narcotics agents and Cleveland detectives.

Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor William J. Coyne said the agents did a "marvelous" job and had gathered good evidence for his cases. Twelve of those indicted were accused of selling heroin.

Coyne said the largest transaction completed by the agents was the purchase of nearly $300 worth of marijuana.

The agents would take the drugs home with them after their purchases and send the evidence to police laboratories for analyzing.

Cuyahoga Budget Gets Tentative OK

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A tentative $299.8 million budget for 1972 was adopted Thursday by the Cuyahoga County Commissioners. The actual budget, which probably will fall $10 million short of the tentative mark, won't be worked out until December.

The tentative budget calls for a 25.25 per cent increase over 1971 spending, with the majority of the increase going for the county welfare department.

Lawrence E. Murtaugh, county administrator, said the increased spending can be attributed to continuing inflationary pressures, high unemployment, negotiated wage increases for public employees, rising welfare and health costs and increased costs for operating the courts. He cautioned county department heads to hold down increasing their operating costs unless authorized by the county commissioners.

Commissioners anticipate receiving $197.5 million in federal and state aid, for health and welfare programs and $102.3 million from county sources.

Adoption of the tentative budget by July 15 is required by state law, even though actual budget figures will not be available until later in the year.

Youngsters Hired As Consumer Council

LONDON (AP) — A London toymaking firm has engaged six children as a junior consumers' council to test its toys.

"We get new toys every fortnight and report on faults and suggest changes," said 11-year-old Julian Boon, chief tester. "We are allowed to keep the toys we test. For us it's just like Christmas all the time."

Demos Curb Vote Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring the "American voter cannot be bought," five Democratic presidential hopefuls have agreed among themselves to limit radio-television spending to a nickel-per eligible voter in next year's primaries.

That's the only way the party, facing prospects of a crowded primary ballot and carrying over a 1968 election debt of $9.3 million, can avoid drying up financial resources needed to mount a fall campaign. Democratic national Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said Wednesday night.

The 5-cent-per-voter agreement would limit a candidate running in all 23 primaries to a total radio-TV expenditure of $2,819,000, O'Brien told newsmen.

In California, for example, each candidate would have a $435,000 ceiling, compared with estimated 1968 primary spending by Robert F. Kennedy of $1 million and by Eugene J. McCarthy of $534,000.

At a private three-hour meeting with prospective candidates and congressional leaders over steak and strawberries, O'Brien said agreement was reached to hold down primary spending and aim political guns at Republicans rather than at each other.

Presidential hopefuls at the affair were Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma and George McGovern of South Dakota. All five walked out before O'Brien opened his news conference.

O'Brien said Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Harold E. Hughes of Iowa were unable to attend because of scheduling conflicts, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts turned down an invitation.

Taking a chance

That's a high fence for a young man to walk, but take a good look at his face, and you'll see that he's not only determined to do it, but confident that he can.

Chances are, with this attitude, he won't slip. At least, he'll have far less chance of slipping than if he approached "fence-walking" plagued by self-doubt.

So many of us approach tasks, challenges, opportunities, with a nagging conviction of our own failure, even before we begin. We need more faith in ourselves. Self-faith comes only from a far greater faith! Faith in God.

Face up to your own "fence-walking." In the course of life, we all have to do quite a bit of it. Find the courage to start by listening to what your church has to say to you.

Demos Curb Vote Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring the "American voter cannot be bought," five Democratic presidential hopefuls have agreed among themselves to limit radio-television spending to a nickel per eligible voter in next year's primaries.

That's the only way the party, facing prospects of a crowded primary ballot and carrying over a 1968 election debt of $9.3 million, can avoid drying up financial resources needed to mount a fall campaign, Democratic national Chairman Larence F. O'Brien said Wednesday night.

The 5-cent-per-voter agreement would limit a candidate running in all 23 primaries to a total radio-TV expenditure of $2,819,000, O'Brien told newsmen.

In California, for example, each candidate would have a $435,000 ceiling, compared with estimated 1968 primary spending by Robert F. Kennedy of $1 million and by Eugene J. McCarthy of $534,000.

At a private three-hour meeting with prospective candidates and congressional leaders over steak and strawberries, O'Brien said agreement was reached to hold down primary spending and aim political guns at Republicans rather than at each other.

Presidential hopefuls at the affair were Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma and George McGovern of South Dakota.

All five walked out before O'Brien opened his news conference.

O'Brien said Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Harold E. Hughes of Iowa were unable to attend because of scheduling conflicts, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts turned down an invitation.

Taking a chance

That's a high fence for a young man to walk, but take a good look at his face, and you'll see that he's not only determined to do it, but confident that he can.

Chances are, with this attitude, he won't slip. At least, he'll have far less chance of slipping than if he approached "fence-walking" plagued by self-doubt.

So many of us approach tasks, challenges, opportunities, with a nagging conviction of our own failure, even before we begin. We need more faith in ourselves. Self-faith comes only from a far greater faith! Faith in God.

Face up to your own "fence-walking." In the course of life, we all have to do quite a bit of it. Find the courage to start by listening to what your church has to say to you.

Area Cincinnati fans, who suffer as the Reds flounder, will be turning their interest and hopes toward Wilmington where the Bengals have opened training camp.

Twenty-six rookies plus quarterbacks Greg Cook, Virg Carter and Dave Lewis began to sink their cleats into the sod Monday in preparation for the coming season.

Forty-four veterans will make their appearance Friday and the camp will get into full swing as the Bengals get ready to defend their AFC Central Division title.

Prospects for the season are bright as Paul Brown has a youthful bunch of gladiators who are still learning and maturing.

The Bengals went after offensive linemen in the draft and if these prospects live up to expectations Cincinnati will be dealing out some rough Sunday afternoons for anyone who dares enter the fair of the Bengals.

Much attention will be focused on the quarterback spot where Cook, Carter, Lewis and rookie Ken Anderson will battle for the honor of leading the Bengal attack.

Two-a-day workouts, 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m., will begin Saturday and the public is invited.

It's just about an hour's drive to the Wilmington College campus and would make a nice day's outing for Dad and the youngsters.

Our little gem of information — The 1930 St. Louis Cardinals and 1927 Philadelphia Athletics both had 11 players hitting .300 or better.

Our "fearless" forecast — It will be Julius Boros, of course, who shoots down the high flying Trevino in the Western Open.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Tony Perez Clubs Homer; Cincinnati Stops Giants, 2-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tony Perez is doing a lot more than just talking about what he is going to accomplish in the second half of the season to make up for a poor start.

The Cincinnati third baseman clubbed a two-out homer in the ninth inning off ace San Francisco reliever Jerry Johnson Thursday night to lift the Reds past the Giants 2-1. It marked the second straight game Perez has come through in late innings to help the Reds pull out a victory.

"When I get hot, I hit everything," Perez said jubilantly after the Reds had posted their fifth consecutive victory. "I think maybe everything is turned around for me. I am hoping for a big second half. I've really never had a good second half in my career."

The homer was his 15th and he said the pitch he slammed was a change-up.

"But I don't hit too many homers on change-ups," continued Perez who said he had been looking for a fast ball. "I just hope it keeps up this way."

In Cincinnati's last game before the AllStar break, Perez drove in all five runs and clubbed two homers as the Reds took the nightcap of a double-header Sunday against the New York Mets. His second homer of the game was a three-run blast off Tom Seaver in the eighth inning.

The Reds tallied their first run of Thursday night in the fourth inning on Lee May's 24th homer. The shot was only one of two hits the Reds managed off John Cumberland in seven innings before he was lifted for a pinchhitter in the eighth inning when the Giants knotted the score 1-1.

Oddly enough, May hit his homer just after he had sent a ball towering deep into the leftfield seats—foul.

"On the second pitch, you never expect a good pitch," May said about the ball he hit. "I said to myself, 'You just missed it, now try for another.'"

While Cumberland was mowing down the Reds, young Don Gullett was checking the Giants.

He scattered three hits until the eighth inning, and after Dick Dietz had walked with two outs in the first, he retired 13 men. He wound up striking out six men and walking one, and yielding one run and one hit in 7 2/3 innings.

Charlie Fox, Giants manager, said, "Gullett looks like a fine young pitcher and he's certainly been good every time against us. He's kept them in the game."

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson had some good words for Cumberland. "I want to tell you, I had Cumberland at St. Petersburg in 1966 and he was real wild and crude on the mound and I really never gave him a chance. So I wouldn't blame him if he were angry at me. Now he's a real pitcher."

Red Sox Blank Minnesota, 3-0

By BERT ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski and Billy Conigliaro, the feuding Boston outfielders, buried the hatchet, then Rico Petrocelli went out and buried the Minnesota Twins. Petrocelli, upset by a close pitch thrown by Minnesota's Stan Williams in the 13th inning, crashed the next delivery by the Twins' right-hander into the left field screen for a three-run homer, powering the Red Sox to a 3-0 victory Thursday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland outslugged Detroit 8-7; Baltimore topped California 4-3; Kansas City blanked Cleveland 1-0; Washington trounced Chicago 8-3; and Milwaukee nipped New York 1-0.

The Boston-Minnesota game was one of the longest scoreless battles in the Red Sox' Fenway Park, one of the smallest fields in the majors. After the contest, the Red Sox were more eager to talk about the length of the game rather than the publicized dissension which had wracked the club for the past week.

Conigliaro had touched off the strife. He reacted to the retirement of his brother, Tony, by accusing Yastrzemski for Tony's trade to California last October. Billy also accused Yastrzemski, Reggie Smith and equipment manager Don Fitzpatrick of being part of a conspiracy, with a great deal to say about the running of the team. Yastrzemski denied the charges, and Smith called Billy a "Quitter," saying he never again wanted to play with the younger Conigliaro.

Yastrzemski and Billy patched up their differences at a news conference Wednesday.

Smith was not at the meeting. Thursday night, all three were in the same outfield. And it was Smith who started the winning rally, working Williams for a two-out walk. He stole second and Yastrzemski was intentionally walked, before Petrocelli drilled Williams' 1-2 pitch for his 15th homer of the season.

The first two pitches to Petrocelli were strikes, then Williams fired the ball over his head, just missing his batting helmet. "I was ready for anything, then," said the slugging Boston shortstop.

DiMaggio hasn't forgotten how to swing the bat—he swung cleanly off Bobby Shantz in his one turn at bat—but the legs have lost their youth and he just jogs down to first base now.

It's ironic that DiMaggio is 36 years old for this is the 30th anniversary of his 56-game hitting streak, one of baseball's most cherished records, even though he says that Johnny Vander Meer's successive no-hitters was "as good a feat as any."

Fifty-six consecutive games think of it! When Willie Davis of Los Angeles hit in 31 straight games in 1969 and Atlanta's Rico Carty did the same last year, they fell 25 games short. The longest streak this season is 26 by Lou Brock of St. Louis. That didn't even match DiMaggio's halfway point.

The streak started innocently enough when DiMaggio singled off Chicago's Edgar Smith on May 15, 1941. He made it 56 straight with two hits off Cleveland's Al Milnar and one off Joe Krakauskas on July 16.

It came to an end the next night in Cleveland against Al Smith, a left-hander, and Jim Bagby Jr., a right-hander. But the real culprit was third baseman Kenny Keltner, who robbed DiMaggio of two hits with backhand stabs of shots down the line, nipping him at first base both times.

The loss by the Giants reduced their lead in the National League West Division to five games over the Los Angeles Dodgers who downed Atlanta 6-0 Thursday night.

But Fox said, "I don't really worry about that. In fact, I'm not going to begin to worry until we're three games behind."

Jim Plunkett Signs Contract With Patriots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League season is still two months away but the New England Patriots already have recorded their first victory—the signing of Jim Plunkett, Stanford's Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback.

Plunkett came to terms with the Pats and the signing took place in Chicago where he is preparing for the College All-Stars game against the Baltimore Colts. The contract, however, was announced by Pats' General Manager Upton Bell at the team's training camp at Amherst, Mass.

Bell said the pact was for more than one year but he did not disclose any other details.

The 6-3, 210-pound quarterback set NCAA records in passing yards with 7,887 yards. In his final collegiate performance with the Indians he led them to a 27-17 victory over Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

The question of contracts also came up on the West Coast where running back Mike Garrett said he wants more than the San Diego Chargers want to give him. The former Heisman Trophy winner said he is ready to play this season but he wants to get paid like a valuable running back should.

Sid Gillman, Chargers' general manager, said he wasn't worried too much about Garrett because the player is still bound by the option clause in his contract.

The New York Giants acquired defensive tackle Roland Lakes from the San Francisco 49ers. Lakes is a 10-year veteran of the NFL and has started for the 49ers for the past eight seasons.

San Francisco gets a high future draft choice in return for Lakes.

Elsewhere in the NFL training camps, rookie hopefuls continued going through their paces under the scrutiny of the coaches, and veterans worked at testing old injuries which could spell the difference in their readiness for the coming season.

Lee Trevino Bobbles In Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf's have-nots, as far as PGA victories this year are concerned are dominating the Western Open Golf Tournament and if Lee Trevino doesn't make the cut after Friday's second round, the old tourney itself could become a have-not.

The streaking Trevino, winner of the U.S. Canadian and British Opens within the last month, found his iron shots flying spinlessly from the long fairway grass and struggled over the storied Olympia Fields course in three over par 74 Thursday.

The effervescent Mexican-American, followed by most of the 11,100 galleries, was eight strokes off the pace set by 35-year-old Bruce Crampton.

The Aussie veteran of the tour blazed in with a 66, one over the competitive course record, consuming only 26 putts. This included 11 one-putts greens and a remarkable string of sinking from 50, 35, 60, 14 and 12 feet before missing two successive four-footers.

"It's just fate when those long ones drop," said Crampton, whose last victory was the $250,000 Westchester Open last year. "But that's golf, and it takes a few like that to win a tournament. I'm in front, and I'm told the only way to win is to get in front and improve your position."

Looking over Crampton's shoulder with 67 were Tommy Aaron who has slowed his swing after missing two cuts in the last three weeks; Dale Douglass with 68 and a group at 69—Dick Lotz, Chuck Monalbano, Bobby Greenwood, Gay Brewer, Phil Rodgers and Bob by Bruce.

Pitching for Mac's were Dallas Hettinger and Jeff Lanman giving up seven hits, fanning 13, and walking ten. Brad Fox had two hits for Mac's.

Hummel and Plum defeated FOPA 13-3 with Jeff Rase and Ted Robinson throwing the win.

They gave up five hits, struck out nine and walked seven.

Herb Gaines and Pat Cuellar were pitching for FOPA giving up ten hits, fanning seven and walking 14.

Rase hit a triple and a double for Hummel and Plum and Dave Angles and Steve Joliff hit doubles.

Larry Brown and Gaines rapped doubles for the losers.

Man Near Nixon Armed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police questioned a man Thursday night who they said was carrying a .25 caliber pistol outside the plush restaurant where President Nixon dined.

A Secret Service spokesman said the incident "was in no way associated with any danger to the President and no one was arrested in the restaurant."

Nixon ate at Perino's Restaurant on Wilshire Boulevard following his nationally televised broadcast on United States relations with Red China.

A police spokesman said they were interrogating a 35-year-old man who said he was a chauffeur of a female patron inside the restaurant. He told police he had the weapon because his employer wore expensive jewelry.

The man was taken into custody outside the restaurant, police said, and taken to police headquarters.

The front gates of the Murray and Leonie Guggenheim Memorial Library at Monmouth College in New Jersey are known as "The Gates That Never Close."

Rotary Hears Drug Abuse Discussion

Chief of Police Bob Temple, speaker of Circleville Rotary Thursday, told of the narcotics school he and patrolman Wes Barton attended in Cincinnati.

The Federal Bureau of Narcotics demonstrated the many different drugs and their use at the school.

Over 104 police officers attended. Temple acknowledged the presence of drugs in Circleville and urged parents to report the presence of any strange pills or marijuana to the department.

He emphatically pointed out that one of the worst problems now is teenage beer drinking. Temple said it is the obligation of parents to constantly supervise the activities of their children.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was also on the program at Rotary and told how he and his officers had gone to the different schools in the county and presented to all children between the ages of nine and 12 a complete drug abuse booklet and program.

Both officers thanked the Rotary Club for assistance in financing these programs.

The following Rotary members were honored for one full year's perfect attendance:

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan has designated the week of July 18 REACT Week in honor of the first anniversary of an experimental radio emergency network in Ohio.

The program, sponsored by the General Motors Research Laboratories, is a cooperative effort between the Ohio Highway Patrol and 2,500 volunteers who use their citizens band radios to report accidents, call for medical aid and help stranded motorists.

Highway Patrol officials say the program has great potential. Some 5,000 reports were issued by REACT members last year, and the number is expected to triple as the program expands.

Draft Lottery Set In August Despite Lack Of New Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System says the 1972 draft lottery, postponed once because of congressional delay in extending the draft act, will be held next month—law or no law.

"We think it's important to have the lottery because the kids are anxious to know what their numbers are," a Selective Service spokesman said Thursday. "We don't know when Congress is going to act and that's why we're going ahead with it."

Aug. 5 tentatively has been set for the lottery to determine the order in which young men will be drafted into the Army in 1972.

Originally scheduled for July 1, the lottery was postponed after House-Senate conferees deadlocked over legislation to extend the draft act two years.

The stalemate is over an amendment calling for a U.S. pullout from Vietnam within nine months after Hanoi agrees to release American prisoners of war.

At the time the deadlock developed, a Selective Service spokesman said Draft Director Curtis Tar could have held the lottery as scheduled but did not want to appear acting without approval from Congress.

Tar now apparently has decided to go ahead, since there are indications Congress may not reach a compromise until the fall.

Lima, Cleveland Men Are Killed In Plane Crash

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland area man and a man from Lima were killed Thursday when their twin-engine aircraft plunged into Lake Erie about a half-mile off North Madison, near here, the highway patrol said.

The patrol identified the victims as William Finke, 23, of Middleburg Heights, a passenger in the plane, and the pilot, Alex W. Kevorkian, 20, of Lima.

The plane, an Aero Commander, was reported heading west over the lake when it developed engine trouble and crashed, the patrol said.

The plane was en route from Ashtabula to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport when it crashed.

Study Center At Antioch

To Honor Vernet

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Antioch College will build a $250,000 environmental study center at its 1,000-acre land laboratory, Glen Helen, as a memorial to Sergius Vernet, founder of Venay Laboratories Inc.

Funds for the project are to be donated by the Vernet Foundation. The center will be housed in a 7,000-square-foot building, including an auditorium.

Vernet, who died in 1968, was actively associated with Antioch for 35 years. He first came there in 1933 as a research engineer for the Antioch Industrial Research Institute.

He developed an engine thermostat used in automobiles and other vehicles and a synthetic rubber compound for molded rubber parts.

Horse Disease Precaution Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Agriculture has taken steps to keep deadly Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis out of the state.

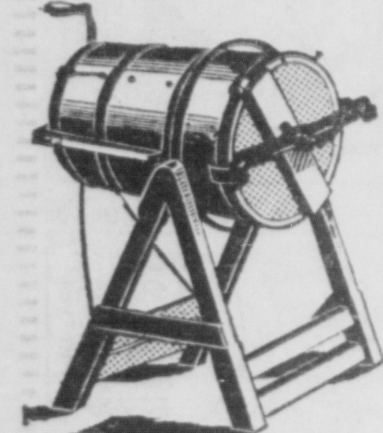

The department has warned that all horses, asses and mules entering Ohio must have certificates showing they have been examined by a veterinarian and are free of communicable disease.

The disease has spread north from South America over the past two years through Mexico to Texas, where officials predict thousands of that state's 400,000 horses will die.

Georgia and other states have banned any horses that have been in Texas during the past 60 days. No horses may leave Texas under a federal order, but some animals are thought to have been taken out of the states before the ban was issued.

GOOD OLD KEEPSAKES
by Clark Kinnaird

IN THE good old days, so-called, there was one home appliance that seldom if ever broke down. No fuses were blown; nothing burned out.

It was the one-armed power machine that produced a popular item served Sundays, holidays, or whenever there was "company." Not a churn, as this [1] illustration may suggest, but cream freezer.

Man Near Nixon Armed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police questioned a man Thursday night who they said was carrying a .25 caliber pistol outside the plush restaurant where President Nixon dined.

A Secret Service spokesman said the incident "was in no way associated with any danger to the President and no one was arrested in the restaurant."

Nixon ate at Perino's Restaurant on Wilshire Boulevard following his nationally televised broadcast on United States relations with Red China.

A police spokesman said they were interrogating a 35-year-old man who said he was a chauffeur of a female patron inside the restaurant. He told police he had the weapon because his employer wore expensive jewelry.

The man was taken into custody outside the restaurant, police said, and taken to police headquarters.

ROBERT TEMPLE

Rotary Hears Drug Abuse Discussion

Chief of Police Bob Temple, speaker of Circleville Rotary Thursday, told of the narcotics school he and patrolman Wes Barton attended in Cincinnati.

The Federal Bureau of Narcotics demonstrated the many different drugs and their use at the school.

Over 104 police officers attended. Temple acknowledged the presence of drugs in Circleville and urged parents to report the presence of any strange pills or marijuana to the department.

He emphatically pointed out that one of the worst problems now is teenage beer drinking. Temple said it is the obligation of parents to constantly supervise the activities of their children.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was also on the program at Rotary and told how he and his officers had gone to the different schools in the county and presented to all children between the ages of nine and 12 a complete drug abuse booklet and program.

Both officers thanked the Rotary Club for assistance in financing these programs.

The following Rotary members were honored for one full year's perfect attendance:

Lightning also hit Dick Rader's house at 428 Ruth Ave., but no damage was reported.

Gilligan Sets REACT Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan has designated the week of July 18 REACT Week in honor of the first anniversary of an experimental radio emergency network in Ohio.

The program, sponsored by the General Motors Research Laboratories, is a cooperative effort between the Ohio Highway Patrol and 2,500 volunteers who use their citizens band radios to report accidents, call for medical aid and help stranded motorists.

Highway Patrol officials say the program has great potential. Some 5,000 reports were issued by REACT members last year, and the number is expected to triple as the program expands.

Tarr now apparently has decided to go ahead, since there are indications Congress may not reach a compromise until the fall.

A spokesman said it wouldn't be fair to wait any longer for the thousands of young men who want to make plans with a new school year drawing near.

Although Selective Service will go ahead with the lottery, the June 30 expiration of the draft act has forced a delay in calling up 16,000 men requested by the Defense Department for the Army in July and August.

However, the 500,000 men who were deferred when the old law was in effect but are otherwise eligible could be drafted, but there has been no decision on this by the Nixon administration.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said he is "not in favor of using such an unfair method to select the people for the July and August call."

When or where such machines originated is uncertain. A record in George Washington's journal of the purchase of "a cream machine for ice," in May 1784, could have referred to an import from Europe.
